BOTH'S THEATRE CLARKE'S PAREWELL FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

George W. Chrisk, Eag., wrote of CLARKE'S TOODLES (LARKE'S TOODLES)

(In Harper's Weenly —)

"Mr. Clarke is a dramatic artist of unquestionable genius. The purity of his comedy is as remarkable as the same quality in Dickens on Frying. It is not clouded with a moral purpose; it is tun for the sake of fun; but so human that the moral cliect is sure. The remarkable quality of this gentleman's acting is its naturations. Of course it is like naturations of genius, but a genius of acute perception. No part could prove it more than that of Topdies. There are but two scenes in that sketch. The first is the interview between Mr. and Mrs. Toodles and the satior; the other is the dranken scene. In the first you, who have been used to Burton's unctiones extravasavara, will be so surprised and dolighted to find that it is possible to give an equally good and entirely new rendering of the filmsy part, will look on with soler and increditions amusement. The immoss F in Thompson passes unseen; but when Mrs. Toodles begins to bell the story he had a brother, and proceeds to hank him upon the torayard of the runder Mr. Charae's Josefa is unspeakably vol. The aching sumy of send sail stable binaself with his back to the audience, while every particle of his frame is as drank with anischer ask it is the next scene with liquor, is one of the most council scenes conceivable. These his take best drunken man that was ever scen. There is a law even in the whim and incapacity of intoxication, and Mr. Giarke's Toodles is stretly bound by it. It beats the eloquent Gough with his low weapons. The same evening he played the farmer in Speed the Plough. Supposing that he would not appear until the actor, is a comedian of the back and purest school, and by its the diagram of the back and purest school, and by its the diagram's fact that has been seen upon those boards since Rachel."
